HIST 580

Call for Submissions

Are you interested in preserving your experiences throughout this historical pandemic that is sweeping our nation? You can now do so by submitting your personal stories, photos, videos, sound clips and more to the COVID BRIDE collection. This collection is seeking submissions from all couple groups that reflect on the personal side of life, regarding weddings, and how it all has been changed by the virus. This can include a range of things such as your personal experience with ceremonies, planning, and family and friend's involvement. It may include personal journals, videos, photos, audio files, word documents, or pdfs. The submissions made in this collection will be submitted to the JOTPY Archive, a database collecting information from all over about life during the global pandemic that is COVID-19. You may submit to the #JOTPY page here, <https://covid-19archive.org/s/archive/page/Share>. Make sure to use the collection hashtag #COVIDBride If there is a need to contact anyone regarding this collection, please reach out to Kiersten Camby at kcamby@asu.edu.

Target Audience: People of all age groups within North America

Where: Facebook will be the platform I look into as the feed move slower, meaning that the call will not be lost quickly in an updated news feed. Facebook also has the capability to reach all age groups that can submit, verses a specific age group.

When: Upon approval of the new call and new hashtag
