Mission Statement

Part 1:

The JOTPY Archive is a crowdsourced global digital archive aiming to collect the stories surrounding the global COVID-19 pandemic. It works to eliminate silences, reach all populations, and make history accessible to all people in the present and future.

Part 2:

The Secondary Education and Distance Learning collection is a collection based on the experiences of secondary level educators and students in grades 6-12. This collection allows students a voice in history and provides students and teachers with an authentic learning experience. By giving students and teachers a platform to contribute the silences that often surround the experiences of children are activity being filled.
