

Mission Statement of the Humor Collection:

May 29, 2020

The Humor collection focuses on humor in the time of COVID. It includes memes, stories, reflections, recollections, videos, etc. that depict our lives with a sense of humor. The entries will record and preserve how people maintained their sense of humor in this difficult time. The subjects in my collection will include such things as parents' and students' experiences with remote learning, how marriages survive being together 24/7 in such close quarters, children's stories with their reactions, and experiences at home, remote working, Zoom meetings and classes, social distancing, etc.—anything that records what daily life is like during this unique time.

The collection will add to valuable content to the Journal of the Plague Year archive. Humor is an important aspect of life—and one that is very prevalent and comforting now and should not be overlooked.
